

Lili, Lalo and Lali had always heard that Fresota the witch could make any dream come true. The three children desired many things, which were all very different, but they all agreed on one thing and that was why they had decided to visit the witch. The thing that they most desired was for their parents to disappear.

“So, you want your parents to disappear, do you?” The wrinkled bony woman asked them several times.
“Are you completely sure? Do you want them to disappear without a trace?”
“That’s right!” Said the eldest child.
“Very well. Then recite the magic words with me, very loudly and from north to south and from east to west, to the sun and the moon and to the four elements.”

After the euphoria of the first few days, Lali realized how important taking a bath was. She smelled so bad that the flies were chasing her... They smelled like skunks.

“What a nightmare!” Said the youngest child. “I need a good shower!”
