

Lunchtime!

Sitting around the table, the whole gang are waiting for mum and dad to serve lunch. They have played in the park a lot and they're starving.

"Mmm, I'm so hungry!" Exclaims Lee.

"I'm hungry too," says Rose. "Sam, why don't you go and wash your dummy and put it in your pocket? It's lunchtime..."

At the creche

At the crèche, only a few of the older children have dummies for the afternoon sleep.

It helps them to fall asleep. But when they get up, it's sometimes hard to convince them that they must let go of them.

We dress up

The whole gang is playing at dressing up in mum and dad's bedroom. It's such fun dressing up as superhero with a real cape!

"Come here, Sam. I'll put a cape and mask on you," says Lee. "But why don't you take your dummy out of your mouth? Have you ever seen a superhero with a dummy?"
